To the Public.

So great has been the Mortality in the City of Savannah, during the last season, and so strong the desire expressed by many to see a List of the Deaths which have occurred, that the Subscriber has been induced to offer it to the Public in this pamphlet form. It is taken from the Public Records, and may therefore be considered as correct as can possibly be obtained. Should some errors occur in the names, they must be attributed to the circumstance of there being so many strangers in the place, and to the general dismay which pervaded the City during the calamitous season which it embraces. It commences with the month of JULY, and closes with that of NOVEMBER—during a part of which short period, a mortality was experienced, that does not perhaps find its parallel in the annals of any country. The year 1820 will long be remembered by many, with melancholy feelings, as the gloomy period when they became widows or orphans—or were called to deplore the loss of those whom they held most dear in life.

As the arrangement of the deaths alphabetically, would have been attended with much labor, and greater liability to error, it has been thought preferable to insert them in the order of time, as they occurred.

That this Bill of Mortality, may serve as an acceptable Memento to those who have been bereaved of relatives and friends, and to the Community at large, is the sincere wish of

The Public's obedient servant,

H. P. RUSSELL.
